Re: Business Opportunity Rule, R51193

Dear Sir or Madam,

My name is Danielle Hines, I currently reside in Stewartsville, NJ. I have been an independent distributor of Xango for seven months, now. I got into the direct sales business, via a friend of mine who introduced me to this wonderful opportunity on how to enhance the quality of my life. Direct selling contributes to my family finances by giving me the opportunity to establish a better lifestyle for my family. Direct selling has contributed to my personal development because it gives me the opportunity to meet some incredibly motivated individuals, who want to help you succeed. Xango has given me the opportunity to share my story with individuals, given them a chance to believe in themselves. I have also listened to others tell their success stories, in which those stories have given me the privilege to believe in myself.

Direct sales make individuals better people, therefore the world is a better place due to the fact that it teaches all of us to become the best that we can be. This business has given me hope again and I can talk to people and keeps my mind off the loss of my Mother.

Although, I truly appreciate the FTC's effort to protect our consumers, however, I know that this will put a damper on the growth of my business because individuals will then become suspicious. I was made aware that there are fraudulent groups out there but Xango is not one of them and this is going to affect us.

The Seven Day waiting period is truly going to raise suspicion and give individuals a reason to believe that our company isn't legitimate. This will also cause unnecessary delays and would truly be impracticable.

Our company allows individuals to start for less than $500, by passing this rule, some individuals will not be afforded the opportunity to go into business for themselves causing them to become frustrated therefore making people hostile and desponded with their lives. Now, we certainly do not want that.

It would be difficult for us to collect claim earning information. Also it would be impracticable. To find 10 nearest existing sales people, as we do not access to that information. What about the privacy of people?

Sincerely,

Danielle Hines
